Global FM International Workshop Works Across Boundaries at BIFM Conference

The 2010 BIFM Conference is being held from 13-14 April at the Riverbank Park Plaza in London and is pleased to be the hosting event for the Global FM International Workshop 'Working Across Boundaries – the FM Challenge in an Advancing World.'

The theme of the workshop ties in neatly with the overall theme of the conference 'FM in a changing world.'

Global FM will be running the workshop to explore the challenges and opportunities that cross border delivery facilities management faces and to look at practical and repeatable solutions. The parallel session will take place on 13th April from 2-5pm.

One of the key issues facing facilities management professionals is the challenge of delivering consistent services across boundaries of all sorts. Clients want a guaranteed service level that can be understood, monitored and communicated.

Chair of Global FM, Steve Gladwin will be introducing the session, followed by a talk from Dave Wilson on cultural diversity. The session will also feature a talk from one of the yearly sponsors of Global FM, Qube Global Software and much more.

An expert panel made up of industry experts, chaired by Steve Gladwin, will take questions from the floor and share experiences of cross boundary service delivery.

If you would like to participate in this increasingly popular event, please contact Global FM (globalfm@kelleneurope.com) as soon as possible as space is limited.
